Basic pokemon card value guide online download

Retired game features
The Pokémon Trading Card Game Online has been in continual development since its initial inception. The Standard format was previously called the Modified format. Expanded Only decks composed entirely of cards from expansions or sets officially sanctioned for Play! Pokémon events for the Expanded format are allowed in this play type. It consists of an initial track designed to help new players get started in the game, and a track that provides recurring rewards to existing players. Event Tickets were also available for purchase with real currency in the menu section found on most screens or in the Pokémon.com website up to October 30, 2018. There are a bunch of these set symbols... 5-6 sets are released every year, each with a different set symbol, and they've been printing cards since 1999!The following table is a complete list of Pokémon card sets, sorted by date... the newest sets are at the top... the oldest are at the bottom. Players were able to redeem Gems for in-game items until December 10, 2018. Unlike other currencies, 50 Tournament Keys are earned for each special Event and additional keys are not available by other means. There is a separate Daily login bonus that may be received by logging into either Pokémon.com or TCGO each day starting at 12:00 AM UTC, which earn players/website users 12 Trainer Tokens. Apart from the player's initial decks, Theme decks are obtained by either using Redemption codes or by purchase with Trainer Tokens in the in-game Shop. This format was added in the 2014-2015 season to allow a greater number of expansions than the Standard format but not be as unpredictable in card combinations as the Unlimited format. Players have 3 weeks or 21 days to progress as far as they can up the Versus Ladder before the ladder is reset. Occasionally, updates to the game involve the removal of previously existing game features. The game was subsequently redesigned as a downloadable game utilizing the Unity engine[3] and relaunched on May 15, 2012 for PC,[4] on November 5, 2012 for Mac,[5][6] and on September 30, 2014 for iPad.[7] The original browser-based version continued to function until August 8, 2012.[8] Development continues on the downloadable version even after it officially emerged from open beta testing in February 2015.[9] The reprogramming and relaunch of the Pokémon Trading Card Game Online[10] initially required the removal of all game features except for the Trainer Challenge[11] and the now retired Achievements reward system.[12][13] Other features were gradually readopted or added over time: Avatar Creator — While rudimentary Avatar options (4 male and 4 female) were reintroduced on June 12, 2012,[14] true functionality was not reintroduced until the June 20, 2013 update.[15] Collection viewer, Deck Manager, Social menu, and Player Profile — Reintroduced on August 21, 2012.[16] Versus Mode — Also reintroduced on August 21, 2012 and Deck formats introduced on December 12, 2012.[17] In-game Shop — Also reintroduced on August 21, 2012 (initially allowing for just Code Redemption and Booster pack purchases through the now retired Booster Credit system)[18] with the current Gems system added on April 19, 2013.[19][20] and the Trainer Token system on July 25, 2013.[21] Trade interface — Reintroduced with the October 24, 2012 update.[22] Daily Login Bonus and Daily Match Bonus reward systems — Introduced on January 16, 2013 as two parallel reward systems.[23] Both were temporarily retired on March 25, 2015 in favor of the new Daily Challenge reward system, but the Daily Match Bonus was subsequently reintroduced on April 23, 2015[24] and the Daily Login Bonus on June 2, 2015.[25] Booster pack, Exclusive TCGO 5-card — Introduced with the July 25, 2013 update.[26] Player rank — "Advantage" notification feature added on October 2, 2013.[27] "Play as a Guest" option — Introduced in October 2013.[28] Player Interface overhaul — Substantial changes to the game interface began in mid-2013[29][30][31] and continued to early 2014.[32][33][34] which allowed for the introduction of the touchscreen based iPad client in September 2014.[35] A streamlining of the overall game menu navigation system was introduced on July 14, 2015.[36] Tournament Mode — Introduced for testing with the March 27, 2014 update[37][38][39][40] with occasional trial Tournament special events until it officially premiered on February 5, 2015[41] and continuously running tournaments on February 24, 2015.[42] Bonus Wheel and Mystery Box — Added with the June 24, 2014 update.[43][44] while the February 4, 2015 update split the Bonus Wheel into a Victor's and a Loser's Bonus Wheel.[45] Tutorials Mode — Two match based Tutorials added on August 14, 2014.[46] Five additional Tutorials with XY Basic Yellow Starter Theme Deck and Tutorial Rewards Ladder added on July 14, 2015.[47] Pokémon Trainer Club — Added ability for players to register for a Pokémon Trainer Club account from within the game on September 3, 2014.[48] Daily Challenge — Implemented on March 25, 2015 replacing the briefly retired Daily Login Bonus and Daily Match Bonus and retired Achievements reward systems.[49] The June 2, 2015 update reduced the requirements for Evolution challenges by ½ and Knock Out challenges by 1, replaced challenges with a "Play Basic Pokémon" completion requirement to a "Do damage to opposing Pokémon" requirement, and temporarily removed all challenges with Special Condition completion requirements. They may be purchased from time to time in the in-game shop, available through Redemption codes provided with the purchase of physical products or may be traded for with other players. There is no limit to the number of times players may complete the Existing Player track, as they are cycled back to the beginning of the track after receiving the bonus reward for the fifth day. After that date, all unsent Gems were automatically converted into in-game Lost Thuder booster packs and Trainer Tokens. This reward system does not require players to login on consecutive days to maintain progress on the track. The game was originally released as a browser-based game in March 2011 before being relaunched as a downloadable game in 2012 for the PC and Mac, iPad in 2014, and Android tablets in 2016. Avatar items availability are limited and Trainer Tokens cost varies. They are used to gain access to ticket-exclusive Events by redeeming a certain amount of tickets needed to enter a given tournament. Events Mode Same as Versus Mode as summarized above (except for the Versus Ladder). The fourth subset in the Sword & Shield Series is comprised of two part; a base set containing 73 cards and a Shiny Vault set containing 122 cards. Guided story So as to not overwhelm new and returning players with the complexity of the full game and in order to assist less experienced players in learning basic game mechanics, all players are initially directed through a set of in-game Tutorials and then a set of matches before all game features are accessible. Gems were typically equal to 2 Trainer Tokens. Rewards include both static rewards (25 Trainer Token, 4 Event Tickets, a 5-card Booster pack randomly selected from current Standard format expansions) or items that are updated weekly such as a single expansion or promo card or a Gameplay item such as Coin or Card sleeve. Playing in events with other players provides the opportunity to gain Trainer Tokens or additional Event Tickets with a spin on the Bonus Wheel at the end of each match, win or lose, as well as the opportunity to earn Trainer Tokens, Event Tickets, Booster packs, and Uncommon Chests based on player placement in a given event. The code is on the side not pictured. Standard Only decks composed entirely of cards from expansions or sets officially sanctioned for Play! Pokémon events for the Standard format are allowed in this play type. Upon entering an event, players are placed into a queue until all 8 players have been joined. This set contains 203 cards in the base set, and 34 secret rare cards, for a total of 237. It officially emerged from open beta testing in February 2015 but continues to be refined and improved upon on a continual basis. Not every item is available for trading (appearing as "Trade Locked" items) to prevent players from creating multiple accounts to accumulate these items. The Battle Styles set introduces Single Strike and Rapid Strike Pokémon... new powerful attacks to use against your enemies! Continue reading "Battle Styles Set List"
The Pokémon Shining Fates set is unique... it contains 73 base set cards, plus a Shiny Vault subset containing 122 Shiny Pokémon. Players must defeat a given Trainer in a specific spot or position once before unlocking the next Trainer position, as well finishing a given league once before unlocking the next. Versus Mode Versus Mode allows players to play against another randomly selected online player in the Theme, Standard, Expanded or Legacy format. This Daily Login bonus to independent of the TCGO reward system. Tournament Keys Tournament Keys are used to participate in key-exclusive Events by redeeming a certain amount of them needed to enter a given tournament. They are also able to rematch a Trainer that has already been defeated in any league position. Usually only Theme, Standard and Expanded format events are available, as the Legacy format has a low playerbase and Unlimited has a reputation of turn one win decks. Child accounts Main article: Pokémon.com, User profile While the Pokémon Trading Card Game Online strives to be child friendly, parents may further restrict access to certain in-game features by signing into the parent's account on Pokémon.com, selecting the child's account under the parent account, and selecting Pokémon TCG Online Settings. Beating the same Trainer in a different position in a league or in a different leagues counts toward the 7 successes, but not beating a Trainer in the same position in a league more than once. Main article: Code Card Certain physical Pokémon Trading Card Game products will come with an unique code card that can be used to redeem virtual cards or other virtual products for the TCGO. The challenges may be completed anytime, however players will not be offered a new challenge until finishing their current one(s) or abandon it, except as a new day's challenge may be worked on simultaneously as players advance in Player level. At the beginning of matches, the highest-ranking player is identified to have an "Advantage" over their opponent. Players battle in three "Leagues": Gold League, Platinum League, and City Championship. Often updates involve the addition of new rules and card as new expansion sets are released, the resolution of program errors, player interface changes improving usability, and the addition or re-addition of new game features. Currently, new players have access to five Theme decks (plus XY Basic Yellow only in the tutorials) exclusive to the Pokémon Trading Card Game Online, but other unique Theme decks were available in the past. Play Testing Play Testing is located under the Deck Manager Mode. Each Daily Challenge has a Pokémon Type associated with it as well as an Experience Point (or XP) value, which are applied to that given Pokémon type. Special Challenges work similarly to Daily Challenges but have a time limit and offer greater rewards. Event Tickets Event Tickets are currently available in Daily Login Bonus and Versus Ladder rewards, as well by spinning the Bonus Wheel. Each event is composed of three-round single elimination matches between 8 players. Finally, purchasable Theme decks provide 1 Trainer Token after beating each of the 36 Trainers plus a 10-card Booster pack after beating the first 12 Trainers once per Theme deck. Additionally, players earn Trainer rewards based on Tournament type and placement. Some Trainers appear more than once in a league. Additionally, players are given the chance to spin the Bonus Wheel regardless of the match's outcome, which provides an opportunity to receive Trainer Tokens, Event Tickets, or a Mystery Box reward. Each Tournament Chest contains a random number of Trainer Tokens and a single card of Uncommon Rarity or higher from a Standard format expansion.
